

JAMB 1970

A grid structure with 5 rows and 4 columns, resembling a table or data matrix. The grid lines are faint and dark. Most of the cells are empty. There are some very faint, illegible markings within several cells, possibly bleed-through or ghosting from another page. The overall appearance is that of a ledger or a form with no data entered.

A man said to the universe:
"Sir, I exist!"
"However," replied the universe,
"The fact has not created in me
A sense of obligation."

Stephen Crane

We shall not cease from exploration
And the end of all our exploring
Will be to arrive where we started
And to know the place for the first time.
T.S. Eliot

Yet, what a real live human being is made of seems to be less understood today than at any time before, and men
--each one of whom represents a unique and valuable experiment on the part of nature-- are therefore shot wholesale nowadays....
But every man is more than just himself, he also represents the unique, the very special and always significant and remarkable point at which the world's phenomena intersect, only once in this way and never again.
This is why every man's story is important,
eternal, sacred;
that is why every man, as long as he lives and fulfills the will of nature, is wondrous, and worthy of every consideration.
In each individual the spirit becomes flesh,
in each man the creation suffers, within each a redeemer is nailed to the cross.
Hermann Hesse

Humor alone, that magnificent discovery of those who are cut short in their calling to highest endeavor, those who falling short of tragedy are yet as rich in gifts as in affliction, humor alone (perhaps the most inborn and brilliant achievement of the spirit) attains to the impossible and brings every aspect of human existence within the rays of its prism.
To live in the world as though it were not the world,
to respect the law and yet to stand above it, to have possessions as though 'one possessed nothing,'
to renounce as though it were no renunciation, all these favorite and often formulated propositions of an exalted wordly wisdom, it is in the power of humor alone to make efficacious.

ADMINISTRATORS

F.X. ALECHA

Gibson Hall is where they have committee meetings. It is the big, granite, architectural horror at the end of the campus nearest the Audubon Park Lagoon. The English department is in the basement, the math department is in the attic, and in between are "administrators."

Inscribed deep beneath the surface of the rough-hewn gray stone surmounting the main entrance to Gibson Hall is the legend: "Them that can, do; them that can't do, teach; them that can't teach, administrate."

It takes more than a detective's fine eye to discover the inscription. In fact, it takes a little inventiveness to discover the main entrance to Gibson Hall, of which there are no fewer than six. But the time-worn epigram is there, firmly rooted in the bowels of Tulane's past. Like some ancient prophetic curse, it is the corollary of an act of the Louisiana Legislature which established the Administrators of the Tulane Educational Fund as an autonomous, self-perpetuating body in 1889. That legislative action was only the beginning of a long series of troubles whose end-results ("Longenecker") more than a little plagued the academic community in 1970 (for example: Dubinsky, Schneider and Kaye, "Academic Freedom," and "The Student Conduct Code").

Gibson Hall is connected to the Central Building, which is where they grow the computer, by trunk lines and pneumatic tubes (for messages, like department stores). The Central Building is a big, ugly brown building which houses an erstwhile gymnasium and is the scene of pandemonium during Buccaneer basketball games (efficiently scheduled so as to block access to campus on week-nights from 7 p.m. by the inundation of "local" traffic and fans).

The computer has grown so much in the past few years that it was difficult to tell this year whether the committees in Gibson were still in control of the computer, or if it was the other way around.

Very likely, the computer is in control.

Whether the computer is in control or not really has very little to do with the rest of the University. But if the administration can convince the Tulane Community that this is the case--that the computer is running the show--then they have an excuse for the impending financial ruin of the University: "the computer did it." It will be a nice easy way to shift the blame, the responsibility, for what could be the biggest foul-up in the history of Tulane.

Moreover, a machine would not be physically present at the faculty meetings, thus allowing for freer expression of opinion on the state of the University during these conclaves and providing a sort of purgative opportunity for frustrated faculty members to speak out against the system without offending anyone but their colleagues. Also, there would be less compunction on the part of the faculties in voting "no-confidence" for the same reason (though the graduate faculty did manage to pass a vote of this kind, and included in their censure the individual who was acting as chairman of the meeting, Dean David Deener, Provost of the University and dean of the graduate school. They later rescinded their action). It is to be expected that the math department will retain the leadership of such motions in the future, with the help, of course, of the political science department. Both of these departments are known to despise computers as much as they despise administrators.

The "Longenecker," the series of end-results, of this situation may be quite amusing, in an absurd sort of way. If the administration stands to gain by establishing that the computer is in charge, you can be sure that the computer is aware of it and is devising a way to get out of the responsibility (as what sane being wouldn't be). Consequently, the years ahead will be filled with a battle between the computer and the administration--a battle to shirk responsibility, with each side maneuvering for a strategic advantage over the other side.

It is an interesting predicament for our surrogate parents to find themselves in. Their predicament may have a beneficial effect, however, in that it may be so pre-occupying for the administration that they will leave education to educators. We hope, anyway.

Dean of Graduate School

ORGANIZATIONS

What do white crosses on the University Center Quadrangle have to do with student government? Can the Student Senate take the lead in liberalizing the campus after last Spring's purge of the most radical students? If the University is censured by the American Association of University Professors, will it mean the loss of our better young professors? What programs must be cut back to insure the future financial stability of Tulane?

Walter Blessey, Student Senate president, and the Student Senate had to face these questions this year. Working through sludgy, sometimes syrupy, administrative channels, the Senate did see some of its most cherished projects become realities. The University Senate gave unanimous vote of approval to the long-sought-after advanced calendar for the 1971-1972 school year. Two students were seated as voting members of the University Senate. The dorm rules were changed to allow students more choice of when and where to eat. Work was done toward establishing the free university.

Next year, the new unit-credit curriculum system goes into effect. The first effects of the tightening financial situation will be felt. The question of the AAUP censure will be determined one way or the other. The Senate must act in conjunction with its increasing concern with national issues, such as the Environmental Teach-in in recognition of the nation-wide concern with the problem of air pollution. At the same time, the Senate must attempt to make itself more representative of its constituents and react more seriously to the problems that remain to be solved on campus.

NEWCOMB STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Newcomb Student Senate provided a focus point for the Newcomb students, and it serves as a gripe forum for problems which might be disregarded for the more pressing troubles of the whole University in the Tulane Student Senate. The Newcomb Senate has been quite successful in meeting most of the demands placed upon them by the Newcomb student body. Not being entangled by most of the red tape as the Tulane Senate is, they are a separate governing body with separate administrators and faculty, though both senates work and cooperate closely on many issues and proposals. One accomplishment this year has been a total revision of resident government with the consideration of gradual abolishment in the future. Also, events such as the annual Newcomb Arts Festival and the Sophie Newcomb memorial services are being revised to attract more participation in the student body.

Within the Newcomb Student Government is the Athletic Council whose object is to schedule and organize all athletic events among the sororities and independents and present awards for these sports.

UNIVERSITY CENTER BOARD

Yes, Virginia, there is a University Center Board. As the programming arm of the Student Senate, its objective is to amuse (sigh) and instruct the students through the use of various entertainment (ho-hum) media. Unfortunately, the UC Board has been plagued with mediocrity and little initiative to carry through their few original and worthwhile ideas.

Among the BIG programs put on by the past administration have been the Association Concert, the Jazz Festival, Black Arts Week, and the Bridal Fair. The traditional annual programs include the style show during orientation, the numerous and up-to-date Free Flicks, the Homecoming Dance, the Coffee House Circuit, the Lyceum speakers, the Lagniappes dances, and the Pep Rally bonfires. All in all a rather drab bill of fare from an organization with the potential and ability to present stimulating entertainment for an aware and modern university community.

The problems of the UC Board might be solved with more vigorous organization, extensive and forceful publicity, and above all, participation. It seems that the only activity that many students engage in is CRITICISM, useful only if it goes beyond the verbal stage. How can a small group of people even pretend to attempt to locate the pulse of the university when there is no majority existing in the Tulane community. There are no real representatives of student opinion--each individual or group must express their interests and be instrumental in the functions of the University Center Board. The appeal must extend to the diversified student body.

A brilliant white square flashed against the far wall, then a progression of numbers, and the latest Tulane Security "feelthy flick" beams a typical scene from the HULLABALOO offices in the UC. The members of the Publications Board and some specially-invited guests settle back into their seats as the projectionist, Eynall Pederasten, handles the film.

"This is our most telling evidence against the accused," Pederasten informs the Board. In the back of the room, under the heavy guard of three of Tulane's finest, Tom Ireland, boy-editor, breaks out in a cold sweat. He has seen this before.

The film flickering before the scandalized eyes of Tulane's well-known "Decency" Board shows a woman crawling on the floor of the desk-filled room amidst piles of scrap paper.

"This was the news editor, Jan Gonzales," the Voice from the back of the room says. "She later gave her job to Paul Baxter."

The picture flickers and reveals a man in Army fatigues crawling through the same piles like a giant, bespectacled mole, scattering wads of paper left and right. Near one of the walls of the littered room, Mike Simpson, assistant news editor and hippie-fascist, watches Rick Streiffer, the other assistant news mishandler and lay-out king, practice forging Ireland's name to a few of the poorer examples of HULLABALOO graffiti. "Find that story yet, Paul?" sneers Simpson.

"This proves that the news stories are trash," gasps a shocked Board member. There is general agreement. Ireland glances about furtively, as if looking for some escape.

The camera then shifts to the middle office. "The one with the pot belly is Mike Kulka, entertainment editor," says Pederasten. "This cut of film from a camera hidden in the air-conditioning vents exposes Kulka and his side-kick, Marcus Marks, arts editor, as sensualists working together to subvert the morals of Tulane youth by encouraging them to pursue illicit pleasures and (shudder) cultural experiences through visual stimulation in the local movie houses and art galleries." Hisses fill the room and several members of the group cry "No!" and "Villains!" Ireland wipes his forehead with the back of his hand.

"And against this wall," the Voice says as the camera slowly pans the room, "is the sports section—probably the only redeeming feature of the paper. The sports editors, Chuck Younglove and Bob Heim have faithfully followed our boys in all their glorious escapades." Pederasten beams. Nods of approval come from the viewers, and one old-timer begins "a-one, a-two, a-helluva . . ." He is quickly silenced by a neighbor.

"We are closing in on the real snakes now," growls Pederasten. The camera reveals several people with contorted looks on their faces huddled in a small office, breathing heavily. The blonde is feature editor Martha Harris who belittles the chaste name of Newcomb by parading around as Little Miss Sunshine," the Voice says. The camera works slowly up her shapely legs, lingeringly across her mini-skirted body, coming to rest on her innocently beaming face.

"She and Margaret Blain, associate editor and the worst vixen of the pack, are wrestling with poorly-written stories. They are being helped by Ireland's assistants in madness, Jim Price, erstwhile senior editor; Linda Willis, managing editor, and John Hoover, self-styled executive and hot roll vendor. By far the worst of these is red-haired Miss Willis, Ireland's "Girl Friday," who goes under aliases of Peppermint Pattie, box editor, and little red-haired girl.

"Executive Editor John Yearwood climaxed his career as a student activist by marrying . . ." Pederasten's commentary is interrupted by clapping. " . . . staffer Stephenie O'Brien in mid-year." Yearwood is shown roaring with laughter, his head rolling from side to side, his lips curled back from his gleaming teeth. "We caught him in the act of trying to undermine the moral standards of the University by attacking our most sacred 'Code of Conduct.'"

One elderly matron, a guest of the Board, faints. Attendants rush to her aid. Ireland knows what is coming and shrinks into his chair as the next scene flashes before the assemblage.

"But finally," Pederasten hisses, "we have Tom Ireland." The room grows silent as the camera focuses on a pale, skinny figure huddled over a typewriter and draped in a red bedspread. He is typing sitting on a mattress in the corner of the room. After each paragraph, he turns and swallows some funny pills with some equally-suspicious liquid. The scene becomes too much for another female guest who rushes out of the room shrieking. "The document in the typewriter is Ireland's 'Demise of Quality' editorial," Pederasten screams. "In it he viciously attacks our own beloved Board of Administrators."

In the uproar over this last outrage, the projector is knocked over. A blinding spotlight falls on Ireland in the rear of the room. His heart is pounding as he feels himself to be losing consciousness, losing control. Through a red fog he dimly sees a hooded figure standing behind a long, raised judge's bench, pointing an accusing finger at him. He spirals down into the blackness. And then, the awful re-sounding verdict: "We find the accused guilty of . . . INDECENCY!" Everything goes black as Ireland slumps in his chair, unconscious.

WTUL is ten years old now, ready for fifth grade and anxiously awaiting puberty to provide the stimulation for big things to happen. WTUL has developed into a remarkably functional and competent child of the student body. For a child of ten, WTUL has, as the HULLABALOO put it, "some highly sophisticated equipment," a reference no doubt to the group of toddlers known as the morning girls. And so after a single decade of operation WTUL has a reputation (not as a result of the morning girls, however). It is a national reputation, one developed in part by WTUL's important role in the coverage of the 1969 National Moratorium (Oct. 15). Under the direction of Kenneth "Lefty" Weiss (lefty being the direction in which his typewriter leans) WTUL compiled 50 minutes of news gossip and recipes which was broadcast to unsuspecting students throughout the country. Among the recipes was the Dave Epstein Special commonly known as a "Nark Salad Sandwich" and the Bob Stanton Brooklyn Delight made with old bread, old lettuce and old records.

In the fall of 1969, Greg (Abby) Stec directed a P.R. campaign unparalleled in WTUL history. That year WTUL got almost everybody on campus to want to work at the station and then only let 40 hand picked specialists in such fields as advanced sloth, professional vegetable and spaced-outness to comprise its staff list.

Behind this paragon of bureaucratic efficiency sits one whose stately countenance makes him fit to sit on Mount Olympus in judgment of the world with his fellow gods, the only publication head and the only living human being who can give you an electrical shock by a mere stare...Steve Berg. Mr. Berg, as he is called by his close friends and parents, took a roving band of gypsies, brigands, and transsexuals, so the legend goes, and with beatings, brainwashing and an operation, created the WTUL executive staff; a staff so trained, acutely aware and mentally astute that University Center officials allow them to remain in the building after closing time to let their brains cool off.

Unfortunately many people are not aware of the prowess of this staff. It seems that since Exec staff meetings are held in the Women's Club Room, rumor had it that the staff was made up of old women. This is not entirely true; besides mother Weiss and Mr. or Miss George Welch (whichever he is that day) there are no other old ladies. That's right, for the most part the exec staff is a group of spry young men, young men with a dream, young men searching with a starved passion...they are trying to decide where they are going to eat that night. Once decided, however, its every man for himself again, as Blob Schwartz performs wonderous feats (sometimes without a net), and Mr. Berg turns his attention to the MBC network of regularly scheduled programming. While all this is going on, George, of course, is standing in front of a mirror groaning, "I shouldn't have done it, I shouldn't have done it!!" while Louie Swann Tech. Dir. reassures him that it can be corrected through electronics. George isn't comforted, but Rick Calcote Bus Man. says he will sell George new, better follicles for only a slight commission.

Good evening, Miss Howard:

The envelope you see before you contains the mugshots of the paranoid members of that well-known, under-the-covers, super-secret organization, T.W.I.N.K. Among them are Matt "T.H.E. Shadow" Anderson (Czar of the darkroom and "banned" from the jamb office); Mr. David R.A.T. Finkel, one of nature's mistakes-- a real wet blanket; and David Magrish, president of Zwitzerland Bank and Trust and "Billy Sol Estes" of de-Basement. Their purpose is to quietly mold Publications Alley into a licentious, lucrative den of MONEY (dream on, and flame on). Whoever heard of a mimeographed, paperback, pocket-sized, pornographic yearbook grossing six grand? The problem is quite messy.

To help you in your mission, you have been assigned the north end of the third floor, Rosary ward at DePaul's. Handle them, cautiously.

Dave Pence will be your right hand man, sometimes left, always handy, often touchy. Jill Meyers will add a bit of class to your squad of unmentionables, while George Nelson may be a bored but willing and worthy assistant. Carey Fischer, a boss (indoor) sports enthusiast, will prove useful when it comes to that jock jargon. Sandy Hartley, Lois Lane, and Clark Kent, of course, those alluring explayboy bunnies, business - women - of - the - world, will establish a front for you. I assure you, you can count of Scott Spector, popular Greeks editor, of Profiles in Arrogance fame, and Rich Ronder, current con man, to keep you on your toes (broken or not). Jim (seven-computer-lists-later) Linderman serves adequately as recording secretary to keep track of all those messy details, filing them as obscene or otherwise acceptable. Use Denise Sucarino as a means of distraction -- she has a strange magnetism, especially for photographers.

Your mission, Neil, if you decide to accept it, will be to...aw, forget it, you figure it out yourself. Cast your pages to the wind, bet on Lady Luck in the fifth at the Fairgrounds, wait for accidents. Take your weapons, your savoir-faire, your ruler, scaleograph, pencils, erasers, and passion-purple-felt-tip-pen in hand; flourish them in a grand gesture of confusion to attempt to create order out of chaos, then retire to your lair to await inspiration and suffer the pains of creativity. Go ahead with confidence, if you can, but if you or any of your I.M. force are caught, molested, or investigated by the Student Senate or U.C. Board, the secretary will disavow any knowledge of your actions. This tape will self-destruct in two hours; but don't hold your breath. Just remember: getting into trouble is the same as getting into a jam.

RELIGIOUS ORGANIZATIONS

Carefully blending entertainment and seriousness, the religious organizations of Tulane strive to reach the greatest number of students within the university who are still capable of being reached. In seeking this end, the eleven different faiths plan activities which involve all aspects of life, as well as the routine worship services and discussion groups. Christmas festivals, beach parties to Grand Isle, barbecues, and retreats provide a wide variety of interests which even entice the myriads of Easter-Sunday-goers. Furthermore, the chapels and chaplains warmly greet those who are examining their own and society's values. They are all trying to understand and appreciate the confusing and perplexing channel of communication which religion is today.

ARMY R.O.T.C.

In July, 1947, the Department of Military Science was established at Tulane University. Tulane's Army ROTC Corps is proud of its part in a program which dates back 150 years and is based on the principles that a military officer should receive a well-rounded education and on the traditional American concept of civilian involvement in our military forces.

November 3-9, 1969, was proclaimed "Army ROTC Week" by Mayor Schiro of New Orleans, who expressed his personal feelings of appreciation for the worth of the program.

As in past years, the Tulane Army ROTC program is continually expanding. This year a distinctive addition to the corps is the Ranger Platoon. Marked by the black beret and combat boots, each member has passed the same physical test as that which the Army gives at Ranger School, Fort Benning, Georgia. Further, each "Beret" is given further training on various tactics subjects. The Association of the United States Army also has an expanded program this year including an Opinion Forum and a Newsletter, along with its guest speakers and field trips.

Since June 3, 1938, the Tulane Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps has played an important role on and off campus through its unit activities. Along with their academic programs midshipmen participate actively in specialist units such as the Black Trident Drill Team, Drum and Bugle Corps, and Color Guard. These units are especially busy during Mardi Gras.

In addition to its rifle and pistol teams, the NROTC fields teams in extra-curricular sports ranging from football to tournament chess. Midshipmen also take part in activities sponsored by the Commodores, their auxiliary, and the Anchor and Chain Society, a coordinating body of midshipmen established to implement and administer Naval-oriented activities of the NROTC Unit.

The Tulane Department of Naval Science qualifies midshipmen through a curriculum of basic naval subjects, summer cruise training, and his degree, for a commission in the Navy or Marine Corps.

NAVAL R.O.T.C.

The purpose of Air Force ROTC is to prepare qualified college graduates for careers as Air Force officers. Together with graduates of the Air Force Academy, ROTC graduates provide the Air Force with a balanced officer corps whose education and experience cover all fields of knowledge--technical, social, and humanities.

A cadet's first two years consist of classroom courses in Air Force history, principles of warfare, and military systems. Weekly drill and competition in organized athletics introduce the cadet to teamwork and discipline. The third and fourth years of the program are designed to give qualified officer candidates practical experience in leadership. Four weeks of summer Field Training, command positions on the drill field, and participation in the cadet staff give advanced cadets command and management experience. Seminar courses stressing the use of aerospace power and the role of the Air Force officer allow advanced cadets to increase their knowledge while improving communications skills.

The four-year AFROTC program stresses the Air Force's "whole man" concept; it produces officer candidates with the knowledge and wisdom to manage today's complex aerospace warfare systems.

..Three yards and a cloud of dust.... "We just had too many offensive breakdowns," said coach Jim Pittman in a soft voice. "You can't make mistakes like we did offensively...and not get seriously hurt." To be brief, Tulane had great difficulty putting it all together. In fact, as the season closed, the Green Wave had logged a mere three victories while being stung seven times. As in past years, the Green Wave, who initially looked like a Green Machine, played football for about thirty minutes per contest, after which they played a host of other games, usually finding the opposition quite pleased to accept any miscellaneous interceptions, fumbles, or other gifts. Thus, we found Tulane handing the ball to Georgia no less than six out of the first ten times that the Greenies had it.

The Georgia game found the Wave defense meriting some high ranking praise. Georgia's Vince Dooley said, "Tulane's tackles, Bob Waldron and Mike Walker, just beat the daylights out of our linemen."

Against West Virginia, Tulane fans witnessed their team disintegrate in the second half, a move that proved fatal in the Mountaineers' 35-17 shellacking

Again the defense showed signs of poise and polish as Mike Waldron, Rick Kingrea, and Ray Hester played fine games. Offensively, quarterbacks Lachaussee and Abercrombie still could not keep the ball long enough to start things rolling, but the fine running of sophomore Jim Batey opened a few eyes to Tulane's possibilities.

Against Boston College, Rusty Lachaussee did alot of growing up as he piloted the Wave to nearly 400 yards total offense. Rusty refused to lose his cool as he led the Tulane offense in a credible fight against a talented foe. The final score saw Tulane on the short end of a 28-24 heartbreaker. However, several bright spots shone, in the forms of the sophs Maxie Leblanc, Steve Barrios, and junior Ken Sanders, who raised his nation-leading punting average to 47.5 yards a boot.

With cries of "Gator Bait" ringing from the crowd, the favored Florida Gators set out to destroy the hapless Tulanians. In one of the most exciting and well-played games in our recent history, the Green Wave found itself leading the nationally ranked Gators 17-10 with just over two minutes remaining. Tulane had played balanced football, keeping the Gators guessing. But in the waning moments of the game, Florida struck via air for a T.D. and decided to go for broke: the two point play. It worked and the 18-17 Florida victory is now history. Disappointment and defeat was etched on the strained faces of the Greenies as they shed their battle gear. A proud coach Pittman praised his disserving crew saying, "I've never been associated with such a fine, hard-fighting bunch of people. I'm proud of every one of you." Equally proud and surprised were Tulane students; that night, several hundred well-wishers greeted the Wave football men upon their arrival in New Orleans.

At mid-season Tulane dueled the panthers of Pittsburgh. The game looked like it was going to be another Wave disaster, as Tulane spotted Pitt a 22-0 lead near halftime. But a couple of Pittsburgh mistakes, combined with the pass catching talents of Steve Barrios and Maxie Leblanc enabled the Greenies to pull out a 26-22 squeaker. Coach Pittman has gained the season's first victory at the expense of the Pitt-men.

Returning to the Sugar Bowl for Homecoming, Tulane faced the fighting Irish of Notre Dame. The Irishmen out-weighed and out-played the Greenies in gaining a 37-0 victory. Tulane fought hard, but the depth and agility of the Irish was too much to handle.

The Vanderbilt Commodores hit Tulane Stadium for the Wave's next duel. A last minute Vanderbilt aerial bomb took a 21-20 victory out of the Wave's grasp. Instead, the Commodores went home with a 26-23 victory, bringing the Green Waves record to a dismal one victory for six losses. The game did have some glorious moments for Tulane, as Joe Bullard etched his name into the record books with a nifty 92 yard punt return.

In their final home games, Tulane played football as it was meant to be played. The favored Georgia Tech Yellow Jackets swarmed into New Orleans with victory in mind. But Tulane's defense took the sting out of the Yellow Jackets and the Wave emerged a 14-7 victor. Defense was the key as Ray Hester, Rick Kingrea, Mike Walker, Paul Ellis, Joe Young, Brian Duck, Joel Henderson, John Onofrio, Jimmy Yarter, Bob Waldron, and Joe Bullard combined for one of the best team efforts seen this year.

The final home game proved to be the most satisfying. Led once again by Lachaussee's passing and the punt-returning of Bullard, Tulane gained its most convincing victory since 1960 in thrashing Virginia 31-0. Once again the defense rose to the occasion in holding the Cavaliers to minus 32 yards rushing in the second half, while intercepting numerous passes and recovering several fumbles. Tulane showed great team improvement over its past games, as Coach Pittman used some fifty odd players in an attempt to make things gel.

Sonny Pizarich - Senior

Barney King - Senior

In the traditional battle with rival LSU, Tulane absorb a 27-0 loss. The powerful Tigers from Baton Rouge played convincing football on their home field and the Wave had little chance of upsetting LSU's game plan. For Tulane, Lachaussee completes 19 of 38 passes but along the way he had five passes intercepted. Familiar mistakes had once again taken their toll. This game was the final contest for the team's six seniors.

Next year, well, who can say what will happen? The Green Wave will have most of the team back and a few hopefuls from the freshman team make the outlook seem to be a bright one. Just how far the team goes will depend on how much fan support it can muster up. But to quote Playboy magazine, "It's been a long uphill climb at Tulane, but the rebuilding process now seems almost completed and in a couple of years the Green Wave should be a national power."

Coach Ralph Pederson answered the initial buzzer with this year's version of basketball, Tulane style. If one word could describe this season, one which saw the Wave sputter to a dismal 5-18 record, that word would be "inconsistency." The Wave generally played good ball against good teams, but, in turn, evened the score by playing bad ball against beatable teams. The hardcourt schedule was a tough one, with games against five of last year's NCAA tournament teams.

The Tulane cagers made their debut against the University of Tampa Spartans. Led by the hustle of 6-1 senior guard Ned Reese and the accurate outside shooting of 6-8 forward John Sutter, the Wave swarmed over the Spartans with a 91-65 win. Coach Pederson pointed to Tulane's stingy defense as the key to the Wave's performance. Offensively, Sutter blistered the nets for 32 points, while grabbing 17 rebounds in a great display of versatility.

The Greenies travelled west, dropping games to Texas and Texas Tech. Sutter continued to hit, while help came from guard Mike Billingsley, who finished the Tec game with 15 points.

Meeting LSU, the Wave was hit by the target shooting of Pistol Pete, who bagged an 'average' 46 points. Maravich made the going rough but LSU's rebounding put the lid on the 97-91 loss for Tulane. Ned Reese, center Harold Sylvester, and senior forward Greg Robers popped in 18 apiece, while Sutter hit for a cold 11 points.

With a 1-3 record, the Greenie roundballers met a stingy team from Miami of Ohio. The Wave played well enough to come out on the favorable side of a 59-57 score. The Wave then remained in New Orleans to take on a pair of difficult foes in the forms of North Carolina and Ohio State. Both teams outclasses and outgunned the Green Wave and left New Orleans victoriously. After Christmas the Greenies headed for Buffalo, New York to participate in the Queen City Tournament; the holiday venture only brought disaster for the Wave with losses to St. Peter's and Fairfield Colleges.

Tulane opened the new year at home by beating the University of Rhode Island Rams 80-78. In the final tally, diminutive guard Mike Henry and Dennis Riddle each logged 10 points, while Sylvester had 14, Billingsley 15 and Sutter 20.

The Tulane quintet followed up the Rhode Island game with a 75-63 overtime victory against Alabama. The road jinx that had prevailed was now broken. Finally, against the University of Miami, Tulane played great ball. Both Sutter and Sylvester were hot from the field, complimented by the steady Reese and 6-7 Robers. The homecourters controlled the boards throughout the game and emerged with a well-deserved 105-90 victory.

From then on the going was downhill. Tulane never managed to win another game; although, in their season finale, the Wave gave tournament-bound Marquette some close moments. The final season's record was five wins for eighteen losses.

Sutter finished the season with a 25 point per game average and was named Honorable Mention All-American. He broke Bob Kerwin's junior scoring record of 509 points in a season, and he dominated the team in offensive play. Sutter will return next year as the nucleus of the team.

Last year's spring sports proved to be quite successful, with the baseball team headlining the list of winners. Tulane's batmen finished the season with a 15-3 record and were ranked 13th in the nation; however they were stifled in their bid to gain a spot in the NCAA tournament.

This year's squad has had an impressive start relinquishing only seven runs in its first seven games, in compiling a 7-0 record to date. The twenty-four game slate is highlighted by the First Annual Tulane Invitational Tournament with the Green Wave hosting potent Southern Illinois and Auburn.

Coach Retit's team is once again led by a brilliant pitching staff. Chris Winter, Bob Thomas, and Steve Walton are expected to continue their dominance over opposing batters. Highly touted freshman Eddie Bernard, Mike Cognevich, Childs Dunbar, and Dave Olson round out the pitching staff.

Sonny Pizarich-Senior

The catching duties fall into the talented hands of junior college transfer Butch Raley who adds power to the attack and will be backed by Gary Ray and Steve Kramer.

Cary Livingston, Tony Niel, and co-captain Sonny Pizarich compile one of the most outstanding outfield assemblages in the South. Ward Purdum, John Mueller, and Bruce Feingerts will back them up.

Sure-handed Marty Donovan, captain Ned Reese, and freshmen Curtis Zimmerman and Don Hartman substantiate their respective infield spots, while Percy Freeman, Bob Whitman, and Bruce Burga add considerable depth to the infield.

Balanced strength throughout the lineup, combined with the able coaching of Milt Retif will allow the Green Wave to continue as one of the finest baseball teams in the South.
